A POCKET HOME PROJECT · 1,400 SQ.FT PLOT

Curve.

Three homes stacked on a compact plot, softened by one quiet curve on the street face.

| PLOT | BUILT-UP | TYPOLOGY |
| --- | --- | --- |
| 1,400 sq.ft | 3,000 sq.ft | G+2 · 3 homes |

One curve changes the whole street face.

A small plot usually means a flat, boxy front. At Curve, the terracotta block bends gently as it meets the street. It is a small move, but it is the first thing you notice — and it is where the project got its name.

Outside, a soft edge

The curved terracotta face sits beside a straight white tower. One is calm, one is warm — together they give a narrow plot real character from the road.

Inside, a bright front room

On both upper floors, the curve wraps the front rooms and a planted balcony. The rooms that face the street get the widest openings in the house.

> The curve is not decoration. It decides where the light comes in, and how the house greets the street.

AT A GLANCE

| PLOT | BUILT-UP | HOMES | TYPOLOGY |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1,400 sq.ft | 3,000 sq.ft | 3 | G+2 |

One plot, three homes.

A shared stair, lift and lobby run up one side of the plot. Each floor opens off that core into its own complete home — with parking tucked in beside the ground floor.

One core, three doors
Stair, lift and lobby stack on the same side, so no home gives up space to a passage.

Parking at grade
Cars stay at the street edge of the ground floor, the home sits behind them.

Garden on top
The roof over the curve is planted, a green crown for the whole building.

Eight things we solved at Curve.

Every Pocket Home is checked against the same eight essentials. Here is how each one plays out on this plot.

- 01 Light
  Rooms sit on the outer edges, so every bedroom, kitchen and living space has its own window.
- 02 Wind
  Openings at both ends of each home let breeze move from the front balcony to the back utility deck.
- 03 Optimize
  The ground floor gives space to parking and still fits a complete one-bedroom home.
- 04 Storage
  Full-height wardrobes in every bedroom and a tall storage wall between living and sleeping.
- 05 Layout
  Stair, lift and lobby stack on one side, so each home opens straight into its kitchen and living.
- 06 Energy
  Deep, recessed openings in the terracotta face shade the glass and keep front rooms cooler.
- 07 Plant
  A planter strip on the street, planted balconies on both upper floors and a garden on the roof.
- 08 Maintenance
  Two calm finishes — terracotta-tone tile and textured white panels — instead of busy paint work.

Small plots deserve better.

A stock plan copied onto a 1,400 sq.ft plot wastes its corners and its light. Curve is drawn for this exact plot — every square foot has a job.

Park below, live beside.

The entrance lobby, lift and stair share the ground floor with covered parking — and a complete one-bedroom home still fits alongside.

A full home on the stilt floor

Instead of leaving the whole ground floor to cars, Curve keeps parking to the front and builds a 1BHK at the back, with its own kitchen, dining and attached bath.

1BHK | COVERED PARKING | LIFT

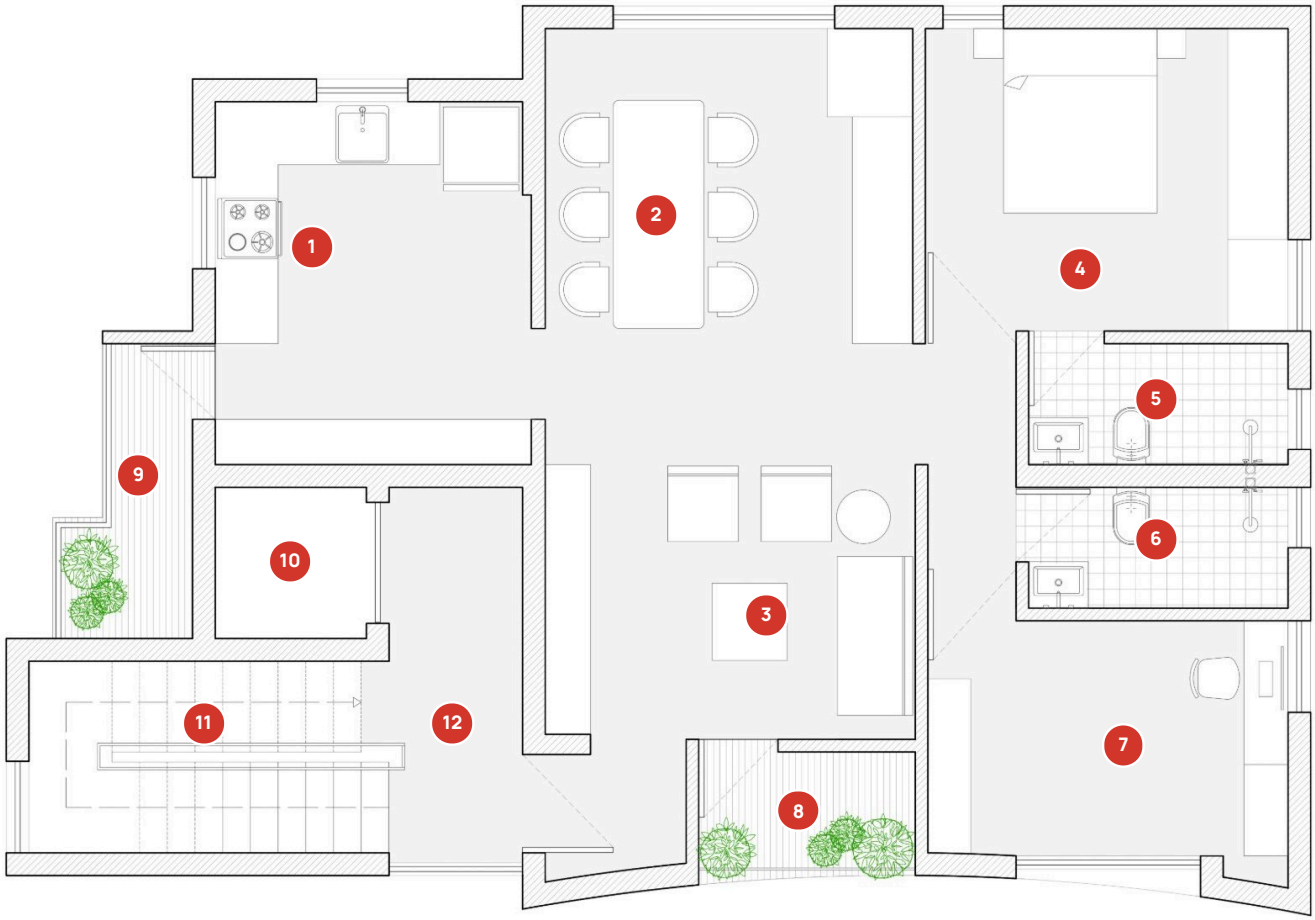

| BEDROOMS | BATHS | PARKING |

A white tower, a terracotta curve.

- The curve
  The terracotta block bends gently along the street, giving the front rooms a softer, wider view.
- The white core
  The stair and lift tower rises in textured white panels with tall, slim windows.
- Recessed openings
  Deep square frames hold the windows and balconies, shading them through the day.
- Green at every level
  A planter strip at the gate, plants in the balconies and a garden along the roof.

We don't design. We solve.

Pocket Home designs and builds homes for compact city plots — homes with light, air and storage that work as hard as the people living in them. Have a small plot? Let's talk.
