A nest is never oversized. It fits what it holds and wastes nothing. Nest is a three-bedroom row villa on a plot of 1,080 sq.ft, planned for a developer's build-and-sell project.

Every foot at work.

Living, dining and kitchen run in one line from front to back, so the plot reads as long rather than narrow.

Planned to sell.

A clear 3 BHK with a bathroom for every bedroom, a car park and two balconies. The things a buyer looks for first.

Eight things every small plot needs.

The same eight principles guide every Pocket Home. Here is how each one plays out at Nest.

- Light
  Windows run along both long walls, so the deep plan still gets daylight in the middle.
- Wind
  A paved setback wraps the house, giving every side wall room to open and breathe.
- Optimize
  No corridor on the ground floor. Living, dining and kitchen share one continuous space.
- Storage
  Two walk-in wardrobes upstairs, a wardrobe in Bedroom 1 and a long kitchen counter.
- Layout
  A bedroom and bathroom on the ground floor mean no stairs for elders or guests.
- Energy
  The first floor shades the entrance, and the recessed balcony keeps sun off the glass.
- Plant
  A planter wall on the street, planters on both balconies, and greenery along the terrace.
- Maintenance
  Paved setbacks all round the house are easy to sweep and keep clear.

Small plots deserve better.

A stock plan leaves dark corners and dead passages. A plan drawn for one plot puts every corner to work.

One long living line.

From the entry to the kitchen, without a wall in the way.
